Goldfish in the Wild

Goldfish are small, colorful fish that are popular pets. Goldfish originally lived only in China. However, these days, many live in rivers all around the world. These goldfish (28). This happened because some people did not want to keep their pets anymore. They took the goldfish to a nearby river, and it became the goldfish's new home.

In 2003, a team of scientists began to study the goldfish living in the Vasse River in Australia. The scientists found that goldfish travel long distances up and down the river. Along the way, they eat many plants at the bottom of the river. However, these plants are (29) the river's environment. The plants keep the water in the river clean, and they are also food for the other fish and animals that live there. After the goldfish eat many of the plants, the river becomes dirty and many other animals die.

However, the scientists believe that they may have found a way to solve the problem. Usually, the goldfish travel alone in different parts of the river. However, once a year, they all (30). This is where they lay their eggs. The scientists say that it is an easy time to catch a large group of goldfish and take them out of the river. They now hope to use this method to stop the goldfish from damaging rivers.

 Subject: Summer Fun's Music Camp

Hi Jeremy,

This is Nicole from Summer Fun. Thanks for your e-mail. You asked about the dates of this year's music camps for teenagers and how to apply. Summer Fun has two music camps for teenagers. This year, the first camp is for singing and will be from June 24 to July 7, and the second one is for people who play instruments. It will be from July 22 to August 4. The fee for each camp is $1,500 per person.

Also, you said your younger brother would like to join you this year. Is he at least 13 years old? If so, he can also join. If not, he can still go to Summer Fun's Kid Camp. Those only last for one week. I can tell you the dates for those, too, if you want.

The application form is available on our website. Please print it out and mail it back to us by June 10. Please make sure to have your parents sign the application for you. Payments for the camp must be made by June 15. The explanation for how to pay is on the application. If you have any more questions, please let me know. Thank you.

Sincerely,
 Nicole Hoover

The History of Firefighting

Nowadays, most towns and cities have firefighters to put out fires, but it was very different in the past. In early U.S. history, as towns started to grow into larger cities, fires were very dangerous. In the 1700s, most houses were made out of wood. Once a fire started, it could spread very quickly, putting thousands of people in danger. There were no fire departments, so neighbors and volunteers worked together to put out any fire that started in a neighborhood.

In order to put out a fire, people would make a line between the nearest river and the place where the fire was. They passed buckets of water that were collected at the river from one person to the next. Then, the people closest to the fire threw the buckets of water over it. They continued to do this until the fire was put out.

In the 1800s, there were many new inventions to fight fires. Although these tools helped put out fires, they were difficult to use. This meant that people needed to get special training to use them. As a result, special teams of men began to learn to use these tools. They were called firefighters.

By 1910, another important invention changed the way firefighters did their work. This was the fire engine—a type of truck that firefighters use. By using fire engines that carry water, it became faster and easier to put out fires. Because of this, fewer people were needed and the number of firefighters on a team got smaller. Today, firefighters do much more than just put out fires. They are trained for many kinds of emergencies. In fact, firefighters provide help in 70 percent of all emergency medical calls in the United States.

- (34) What is one problem people had in U.S. cities in the 1700s?
- 1 Houses that were made of wood easily caught on fire.
 - 2 People did not learn how to put out fires in their cities.
 - 3 Nobody wanted to work as volunteers at fire departments.
 - 4 It was difficult to find the wood that people needed to build fires.
- (35) In the past, neighbors and volunteers
- 1 lived close to rivers so that there would be fewer fires.
 - 2 bought buckets for firefighters to use for training.
 - 3 collected water from rivers and used it to put out fires.
 - 4 passed buckets to firefighters to help stop fires.
- (36) Why did special groups start to train to be firefighters in the 1800s?
- 1 People thought it was better for men to put out fires than women.
 - 2 New inventions began to cause fires that were difficult to put out.
 - 3 Workers needed a lot of strength to use heavy firefighting tools.
 - 4 It was difficult for people to learn how to use the new firefighting tools.
- (37) The number of firefighters on a team became smaller because
- 1 trucks that carried water made their job easier.
 - 2 the number of emergencies began to go down.
 - 3 people began to call other groups for help.
 - 4 an important invention stopped fires from happening.
