4	Hi Antonio, Thanks for the e-mail. It's important for young people to study science because it helps them understand how the world works. It may also help them get a good job as many companies want people with science backgrounds. The rule about cleaning is a good one. If students have to clean the classrooms themselves, they will be more likely to treat the school with respect. It also saves the school money on cleaning bills. Finally, I don't think portable game players are good gifts for children as they will spend all their free time playing with them. It's better to buy things that are educational, such as books. I hope my answers help. Take care, Yasushi
